Transferring from Year 6 to Year 7

Transferring to Secondary school can be an exciting time, full of new opportunities, challenges and greater independence.

Some children may be a little nervous about starting at a new school, this is quite natural and you will not be alone.

Secondary schools are aware of the worries that new students have and there will be lots of people to help you if you need it; your tutor, head of year, teaching assistants and many others.

You have probably been on an induction visit to your new school and may already know other children who go there.

All Secondary schools have homework clubs where you can get extra help if necessary.

Get off to a good start!

- Make sure you have some early nights. With so many new things to get used to, you will be surprised how tired you become.
- Make sure you have the correct uniform and if you have to wear a tie, learn to tie it.
- Pack your bag the day before so you can check that you have the correct equipment for the next day. This is a good habit to get into once you have your school timetable.
- Know how long it takes to get to school – leave in plenty of time. If you walk to school, try to go with a friend, brother or sister.
- Use your planner/diary to help you get organized. You will probably be given a map to help you find your way around.
- Listen to the instructions that the staff give you and make sure you're aware of school rules and expectations.
- Look out for clubs/activities that you may like to join; there will be plenty on offer.
- Talk to your parents/carers about your new experiences at school.
- All this information can become a little confusing so don't be afraid to ask if you need help. You won't be the only one feeling this way.

Make the most of it and enjoy your time at Secondary school!
